Peter's Project reaches 'Target $5 million' following contribution from Devondale Murray Goulburn

Murray Goulburn Co-operative Co. Limited (Devondale Murray Goulburn) today announced a cash contribution of $300,000 to Peter's Project. The donation represents the culmination of a nine month fundraising journey to bring integrated cancer treatment services to Victoria's south-west and South Australia's south-east.

In making the announcement alongside Premier Dr. Denis Napthine at the Lighthouse Theatre in Warrnambool, Devondale Murray Goulburn Managing Director, Gary Helou, paid tribute to Vicki Jellie whose determination to honour her husband's memory has secured improved cancer care services for patients living in Warrnambool and surrounding areas.

Peter Jellie's tragic passing from oesophageal cancer at age 49 was the catalyst that inspired Vicki and the wider community to raise a total of $5 million for the specialist centre. Its opening will mean that those fighting cancer in the future will no longer need to travel to Melbourne or Geelong for specialist treatment.

"Our contribution to Peter's Project reflects our commitment to this passionate and proud region," Gary Helou said.

"Devondale Murray Goulburn is an integral part of the south-west community and like so many others, our company's supplier-shareholders and employees have been touched by the tragic loss of loved ones, friends and colleagues to cancer."

"We recognise and applaud the tireless efforts of Vicki Jellie and the Peter's Project team who have invested their time and energy in a cause that will offer hope and support to so many," he continued.

"We are proud to support this worthwhile initiative and many others in this community."

On behalf of the Peter's Project team, Vicki Jellie thanked Devondale Murray Goulburn for its donation as part of the 'Target $5 million' campaign.

"We are delighted that Devondale Murray Goulburn was able to provide the largest corporate donation to Peter's Project. We offer the company our heartfelt gratitude and will be forever grateful for their contribution which has seen us reach our fundraising target," Vicki said.
